

Red Room make Crowns

The children in Red Room love to play dressing up, and one of their favourite things to dress as is 'princes and princesses'. This week, the children in Red Room have been making crowns to support their roleplay. Using paper and water coloured paints, the children have designed their own crowns to wear so they can be real life princes and princesses. They have also been constructing castles to live in, and singing the song "There was a princess long ago" during circle time.

Children's comments:

- "I am making a castle for the king" - Annabelle
- "I'm going to make a crown for me and my sister" - Salsabeel
- "It's for the Princess" - Faryal
- "I am a prince because I am a boy and Anfal is a princess" - Saddiq
- "I do it blue" - Clayton
- "My crown" - Anfal
